Housing Resources: A Foundation for Recovery
Independent Living Initiative (ILI)

A short-term and one-time (per year) financial assistance program for adults and families who are receiving services through Alliance:

- Eviction prevention and rapid re-housing funds
- Utility assistance
- Start-up funds, such as security deposits, to help adults/families move into permanent housing

Restoring Hope Initiative

A three month (and up to 12 months) longer term rental assistance program to assist frequent users of crisis services, jails, residential settings or hospitals who are homeless or at risk for becoming homeless. Persons must have a service provider and be able to enter into their own lease.
Requests for housing assistance are made by members of the Alliance Provider Network on behalf of the individuals they serve.

Transitions to Community Living Initiative (TCLI)

Part of an agreement between the State of North Carolina and the US Department of Justice, TCLI helps people with serious mental illness be able to live within a community of their choice in the least restrictive settings, supported by a tailored package of intensive wraparound services.

Landlords as Partners

Alliance Health values the relationship with landlords who provide housing to the people we serve. Many of our programs provide longer-term assistance paid by Alliance to coordinate the services and supports an individual or family need.

We also provide incentives and risk mitigation funds to offer additional supports to landlords who partner with us.
Alliance Health knows that access to decent, safe and affordable housing and caring supportive services provides critical stability for individuals and families. Working in partnerships, we are finding solutions to increase access to housing for the people we serve.

Alliance Health practices the Housing First approach.

We believe that housing is a platform that improves an individual’s quality of life, allows them to pursue their own goals and dreams, and serves as a foundation for their recovery.
