WHAT IS TRANSITIONS TO COMMUNITY LIVING (TCL)?

The Supreme Court ruled that people with disabilities should be able to live where they choose. This case is known as the Olmstead decision. It means that people with mental illness living in adult care homes or state psychiatric hospitals can now have the option of living in the community.

This means:
- Your choice is valued and supported.
- You have the right to live in your own home.
- Your community of choice should not limit access to neighborhood resources.

WHAT ARE THE STEPS?

- Your In-Reach Specialist will inform you about the opportunities provided by the Olmstead decision. They can then start the transition process.
- Your Transition Coordinator will help find and secure housing.
- Alliance will help with initial housing setup and move-in costs.
- Alliance will provide ongoing rental assistance and continued support services.
- Alliance will assist in finding and helping you keep employment.
- You will continue to have access to healthcare services.

MY IN-REACH SPECIALIST ________________________________

MY TRANSITION COORDINATOR __________________________

MY PROVIDER _____________________________